Introduction

There are 69 judges statewide that will appear on the 2024 general election ballot for a retention vote. This document provides information about these judges.

Iowa is divided into eight judicial districts. A chief judge, who is selected by the Iowa Supreme Court, heads each district.

Included in this information is the political party affiliation for each judge. Also included is the primary election history, since it identifies the ballot type: (D)emocratic or (R)epublican. The two major political parties have very different views on abortion, as documented in their respective state party platforms.

The 2024 Democratic Party platform states under “Reproductive Rights & Family Planning”, “We support:” “Codifying Roe v. Wade” (line 761), and “Full-funding for comprehensive-family-planning-programs/providers/PP” (line 763). Under “Acronyms Used in This Section”, “PP - Planned Parenthood”. The Democratic platform is available at <https://iowademocrats.org/resouces>, then click link for Iowa Democratic Party Platform - Adopted 6.15.24 (pdf).

The 2024 Republican Party platform states under the “Life” section, “1. We believe that life begins at conception and must be protected to natural death.”, and “2. We oppose using public revenues for abortion or funding organizations which advocate it.” The Republican platform is available at <https://www.iowagop.org/about>, then at bottom of page, click link for Platform.

Additionally, political contributions made from a judge are summarized, since these contributions may indicate support for Democratic or Republican candidates or organizations. This contribution information is recorded in the Iowa Ethics and Campaign Disclosure Board (IECDB) website at <https://webapp.iecdb.iowa.gov/publicReports/searchable-database> and the Federal Election Commission (FEC) at <https://www.fec.gov/data>

Finally, court opinions written or joined by a judge that are related to protecting the unborn are identified. These opinions are found on the Iowa Courts website at <https://www.iowacourts.gov/iowa-courts>

Court Opinion(s):

- Case No. 22-2036 (Fetal Heartbeat), in a 3-3 split decision, joined an opinion that would reverse the order of the district court and remand this case with directions to dissolve the permanent injunction and continue with further proceedings consistent with this opinion. The fetal heartbeat law was passed in accord with the Iowa Constitution; thus, contrary to my colleagues' assertion, it is not a "hypothetical law." It is an actual law. And contrary to my colleagues' assertion, the legislature does not need to "reenact section 146C" to demonstrate that it is an actual law. A statute once declared unconstitutional and later held to be constitutional does not require reenactment by the legislature to restore its operative force.
- Case No. 23-1145 (Fetal Heartbeat), in a 4-3 decision, joined the majority opinion holding that applying rational basis as the constitutional test, undermines the rationale for the district court's ruling. Under the rational basis test, Planned Parenthood cannot show a likelihood of success on the merits of its substantive due process challenge. We thus hold that Planned Parenthood is not entitled to a temporary injunction blocking enforcement of the fetal heartbeat statute. We reverse the order granting the temporary injunction and remand the case for the district court to dissolve the temporary injunction and continue with further proceedings.
